

On xx/xx/2022, PwC DAT Senior Associate Jacob and PwC DAT Associate Mark met with Wilson, CIO of Company Y, to discuss the user access provisioning process over access to in-scope system [example name].

User Access - New

On an ad-hoc basis, an email will be sent by the target employee's manager/access sponsor to the system administrator to initiate the user access provisioning process. The email is used as the approval evidence as well. Once the email is received, the system administrator will provision the user with the appropriate level of access within the system.

Once the user is created, a system-generated email will be sent out to the target user on request, with instructions for setting up the account.

User Access - Modification

The access modification follows the same process as the new user access provisioning mentioned above.
